

12 May 2004

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

I attempted to reach [redacted], which is the telephone number [redacted] provided for him. A Spanish-speaking woman answered the telephone and said [redacted] no longer lives at that location and that he has a new telephone number. She was unable to locate his current home telephone number; however, when I told her it was important that I contact him and that this was the only number on file for him at work another woman joined the conversation and provided [redacted] cellular telephone number as [redacted].

I left [redacted] a voicemail message on Wednesday, 12 May 2004, at 1100 hours (EST). I asked him to call [redacted] in Washington at [redacted] today. I also said I would call him back to save him on long-distance charges.