11 July 04	BHA medic called me to the BHA due to the fact that this detainee had another episode @ 1725 hrs. The guards state the detainee was crying for 5 minutes before the episode occurred. This time the guards recorded the episode by way of camcorder. This time the detainee received a few small rubber bullets to his forehead & a few minor abrasions to his neck & arms. Detainee did not describe that this detainee bit his own arm which did not break skin. (b)(6)-2
12 July 04	I saw tape of one of the episodes. P7 starts out crying. After a time he jumps up and his roommate grabs him. He pulled his roommate away and falls (continues) to the ground. The patient then rolls over to the left and right until he is restrained by guards. & incontinence, & LOC, & hyperventilation & agitation, & postictal period. P7 called out restrained and able to speak. Rx: 1. Anxiety Disorder vs. Pseudo Seizure. P7: P7 informed that his health is important and that we will continue to treat him until he improves also, with him into his own room so he doesn't compound his problems. PS: The only element he needs is to be released. 2. Conversation by TPO S.J. 3. Check ground if s/s present (b)(6)-2

12-11-04 I was called to the BHA for the fact that this detainee had been the episode. I was told by the guards after my arrival, that the detainee showed signs, placing his hands over his head. This is the typical phase that happens prior to him having an "episode". The guards that at this time - 1525 placed the detainee in wrist cuffs in attempt to prevent the detainee from hurting himself. At 1540 the detainee had an "episode". The detainee still put his hands with the cuffs on. He hit his head in the restraints. The detainee was cuffed to his hands to his front portion of body. After the guards had physically restrained the detainee as to further prevent the detainee to cause further injury to self, they moved the wrist restraints from the front portion of body to the rear portion of his body, or behind his back. The detainee also managed to hit his head side of head on the ground which left a ^{(b)(6)-2} ~~bruise to head~~ ^{to} ~~bruise~~ ^{bruise} his head. He also suffered from this incident some abrasions to his face, neck, elbows & knees.
 Detainee's ^{(b)(6)-2} ~~LOC~~ & hyperextension of the neck.

2-10-04 I was called to the BHA and explain that this detainee had 1520. I was told that he was having a positive effect. He was told that he was having some pain from now on. I was told that if he was not going to hurt himself in future. He was released.
 I was told that he was not going to hurt himself.

I was told that he was not going to hurt himself.

11/2/01	See report 11/2/01 of physical symptoms (b)(6)-2
11/2/01	Detainee started his typical crying phase which always leads to him taking highly violent action against himself. At 1600 Detainee was seen in his cell. Behind his back & wrists were. Then @ 1650 the inmate stated that the guards started jumping between the two mattresses inside his cell. He then hit his head against the wall purposely. It was noted that at this time the guards went into the cell to prevent detainee from causing serious bodily harm to himself. With the assistance of the 318 SGT (b)(6)-2, the Guards @ 215 Restrained Detainee @ 215 ties to Detainees wrist behind his back & to Detainees ankles. They also used leather restraints to the same areas listed above. The Detainee was then placed in a t-shirt to his back & a t-shirt to his front that was secured together with tape. Blankets were placed around the Detainees head to prevent hyperextension of the Detainees neck as well as to protect the Detainee from trying to injure himself or anyone. When I arrived @ 1735 hrs I checked the Detainees physical appearance which he appeared to be yelling. I checked the Detainees pulse which was rapid from h.p. yelling & his breathing was rapid for the same reason. This did not still seem to be endangering the detainee. The Detainee was receiving adequate O ₂ . The detainee was released from his restraints @ 1920 hrs. The PR saw the Detainee & stated he was in perfect condition & had not further injured himself. The PR said he would follow up in the a.m. to see if anything showed up over night. The Detainee has marks over both his wrists due to him struggling while he was restrained - (b)(6)-2
11/2/01	Detainee was complaining of pain throughout his body. He stated it was from yesterday when he had an episode. He has some bruising to his lower back & he has marks around both wrists from when he was struggling around. I will continue to monitor it & will continue giving medication (b)(6)-2
