01/27/2003 [REDACTED] or [REDACTED], Internment Serial Number (ISN) [REDACTED], was interviewed at Camp Delta, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The interview was conducted by Federal Bureau of Investigations Special Agent [REDACTED] and United States Army Criminal Investigation Command Special Agent [REDACTED]. Also present during the interview was one other U.S. Government official. The interview was conducted in the English language. After being advised of the identity of the interviewing agents, [REDACTED] provided the following information: b(7)(C)-1 b(7)(C)-6
[REDACTED] discussed the situation which resulted in his being placed in solitary confinement approximately three weeks ago. It all began when [REDACTED] refused to let the guards search his Koran. He then told the guards that they could not enter his cell to conduct the search. The ERF team was then called in. This is standard procedure when it is necessary for the guards to enter a cell. [REDACTED] advised that he went under his bed because he had heard stories of the guards hurting other detainees when they were spread out on their stomach. [REDACTED] never witnessed this and was never treated in this manner by the guards. b(7)(C)-5 b(7)(C)-5
[REDACTED] advised that he would do anything for his religion. He has never thought of hurting any of the guards; however, he did not like to see any of his brothers mistreated and did not like when the guards disrespected his religion. [REDACTED] regarded the searching of his Koran as disrespect; however, he understood that it is necessary because of safety concerns. b(7)(C)-5 b(7)(C)-5
[REDACTED] was then asked if he was of Moroccan descent. [REDACTED] advised that he had been close to the border but had never been to Morocco. He further commented that his accent is from Algiers and not Morocco. b(7)(C)-5
[REDACTED] then advised that something needed to be done about the MP's. Problems are not only being caused by the detainees. The MP's often instigate many of the problems. [REDACTED] stated that he should just be left in camp if the MP's could not be controlled. It is not in his nature to let things go. He has always felt this way and it would be hard for him to change. He has always believed God said that you must be just. [REDACTED] said it is very hard for him to stand by and do nothing when the detainees are being mistreated by the guards. b(7)(C)-5 b(7)(C)-5
It was then explained to [REDACTED] that he would only be hurting himself if he continued to cause problems with the guards. [REDACTED] advised that he understood and would do his best to stay out of trouble. [REDACTED] advised that he was usually getting in trouble because of the Koran, so he decided to return it to the guards. He felt this would prevent any future incidents. b(7)(C)-5 b(7)(C)-5
[REDACTED] advised that there are two different groups among the detainees. One group considers the searching of the Koran disrespectful and the other group does not. [REDACTED] stated that it is disrespectful for anyone to search the Koran; even when the guards request [REDACTED] to personally flip through the pages for them. b(7)(C)-5 b(7)(C)-5
[REDACTED] then asked what would happen to him upon his release back to [REDACTED]. The interviewers replied that they were unsure because each country may be handling the detainees in a different manner. [REDACTED] then advised of a discussion he had with some of his brothers a couple of weeks ago. He felt that many of the rumors being spread throughout the camp were false. Among those regarded being instructed not to talk to interrogators and not to discuss any information which had been previously covered. The brothers were being told the interrogations would end sooner if they did not talk. The US was only stalling by asking the same questions over and over. b(7)(C)-5 b(7)(C)-5
[REDACTED] did not believe this; however, several of the younger inmates are very naive and continue to be followers instead of thinking for themselves. [REDACTED] stated that he would try to spread the word that it is better to talk to interrogators than to remain quiet. Their situation can only be resolved by honestly answering any question asked. He also felt that many of the detainees would begin to speak as soon as some are allowed to leave. In order to prevent future incidents and injuries within the camp, [REDACTED] agreed to keep interviewers apprised of any needs for concern. b(7)(C)-5
