~~(S)~~ On May 9, 2004, Pierre Richard Prosper, Ambassador at Large, United States Commission on War Crimes, convened a meeting at the Embassy of the USA, Kabul, Afghanistan. Present were representatives from the Department of State, Department of Defense, [Redacted] and SA [Redacted].

~~(S)~~ Prosper advised some prisoners now held at GTMO will be moved to a location in Afghanistan within the next several weeks. The location has not been determined. Prosper desired a location where the USG would continue to have access to them. Some prisoners from GTMO would be returned to their home country.

~~(S)~~ With regard to the transfer of prisoners from Sheberghan to Pol-I-Charki, Prosper was concerned about security and health issues long-term. The lead nation for the reform of the Afghan Justice System is Italy. Hence, Italy is supplying some resources to improve Pol-I-Charki. Prosper felt additional money from the USA and other coalition partners would be needed to repair the prison system in Afghanistan.

~~(S)~~ Due to the length of time that the prisoners from Sheberghan had been held, and the fact that the FBI had already processed approximately 1,300 prisoners from Sheberghan, Prosper did not anticipate the USG having any further intelligence interest in the prisoners at Pol-I-Charki.
