I think it would be a good subject to bring up at the deputies meeting. The OIG POC has raised the issue very gently.

Pat, I forwarded [redacted] message prior to receiving your email because I didn't think the call really revealed anything of substance but I can see the need for caution. Does Valerie want to be kept out of the loop on anything even relating to this? Would this be a proper subject to take up at the deputies meeting or in another forum. Julie Julie: We have to walk a fine line here. [redacted] so while we need to keep her informed substantively so she can do her job, we have to be sensitive as to what we relay about the OIG's inquiry. I don't have any magic answers but wanted you to be aware of the issue. If need be, we can consult Valerie and/or the OIG in any given matter. Thanks.

I just sent this to Elaine Lammert and Julie Thomas. I sent it because I'm the point of contact for military reviews going on right now. I wanted to apprise them of the call and get their input about continuing to assist the military in their review.

I am recusing myself from all this, but if at all possible -- particularly if [REDACTED] wants to talk to anyone else -- we really should encourage coordination between the military and OIG.

Brig. Gen. Furlow and some staff were in D.C. this week and interviewed 7 agents about their observations at Gitmo (as contained in their email responses to the Bureau-wide inspection inquiry). The interviews were brief and cordial. I know they conducted at least one interview of FBI personnel in Gitmo last week.

Today (Friday) I received a telephone call from Paul Zimmerman, USDOJ OIG, Oversight and Review, [REDACTED] (whose identity I confirmed by calling their main number before speaking with him) about General Furlow's inquiry and agent interviews. In response to his questions, I told him that the interviews focused on the observations the agents made (as revealed in their email responses and other related documents), the General had limited his questions to the agent's personal observations of any incident, and any interaction they had with military managers about the incident. No questions had been asked regarding any reporting to or communications with the FBI about these incidents. He further asked if the interviews were taped or if signed statements were being taken, and I responded that neither was being done. Mr. Zimmerman lamented that the two investigations overlapped and the agents may have to repeat the interview with his office. He asked and received the contact number for General Furlow at Southern Command, Miami, Florida. I asked Mr. Zimmerman if he wanted me to halt the interviews and he strongly declined to take such a position.
