[REDACTED] told them that if they see anything inappropriate, to report up the military chain of command and not to go "running to Mommy", meaning a Federal Bureau of Investigation supervisor. [REDACTED] added that there was no reason to go to Federal Bureau of Investigation supervisors because then that person was quickly eliminated from the process. He added that we were guests there, and if they can't trust us it will damage national security.	Interview 1 @ 00:25:25 - 00:27:03

To Be Determined	[redacted] stated that at the time he was in Iraq, there was no Federal Bureau of Investigation supervisor located at the (b)(1). The on scene commander, Edward H. [redacted] further stated that the military personnel who were at (b)(1) were with (b)(1). [redacted] also stated that during his nine years of service in the army, he had been in the special forces. To Be Determined	[redacted] stated he discussed with the task force the differences between Federal Bureau of Investigation rules and military rules regarding treatment of detainees. He further stated the task force was concerned about Mirandizing detainees and the decision was made not to. [redacted] stated he also checked with his chain of command, who assured him that was correct because the Federal Bureau of Investigation was not there as law enforcement. To Be Determined	[redacted] stated he observed treatment of detainees by Military Intelligence personnel at (b)(7) that would be inappropriate for Federal Bureau of Investigation personnel to engage in.	Interview 1 @ 00:19:15 - 00:20:15
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to 13(b), before the Iraq deployment, no training or guidance was provided on interviewing, interrogation, or rules of engagement, as far as he could recall. They never discussed how far the military could go beyond Federal Bureau of Investigation protocol. There was no discussion in the training session prior to the Iraq deployment relating to what you should do if you see something being done by the military and/or reporting requirements.	Interview 1 @ 00:24:34 - 00:25:33
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to question 13(a) of the questionnaire, he attended a three day orientation at Quantico before deploying to Iraq. Before deploying to Afghanistan [redacted] stated he had attended one week of training at Salt Lake City, UT with [redacted] which [redacted] described as "well done".	Interview 1 @ 00:24:00 - 00:24:34
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to question #31 of the questionnaire, that while he was with the task force observing an interview from a closed circuit television, he saw a young female military interrogator pouring water on the face of a detainee who was laying down. The commander stopped the interview and pulled the military interrogator out. [redacted] further observed that she seemed to be enjoying her role "too much" and had felt she was a problem before this incident. [redacted] stated he never observed this interrogator act in a sexual or flirtatious manner towards detainees.	Interview 1 @ 00:42:10 - 00:45:50
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to #26 of the questionnaire [redacted] further explained his written response, which states "The Federal Bureau of Investigation needs to establish a clearly defined mission statement for our purpose in Afghanistan and Iraq. 	detainee deprived of clothing. [redacted] stated he has seen a naked detainee who was being directed by the guard force to walk in circles, but he does not know how long this lasted. He further states he experienced a second instance of a detainee being deprived of clothing when a detainee in the black room was stripped to his underwear. [redacted] states he believes the detainee was wearing underwear because there was a female interrogator present. [redacted] further describes the black room as a room with an air conditioner. [redacted] further states that this detainee was "doused with water".
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated that in relation to the two incidents involving deprivation of clothing, he was aware there was a certain level of military command authorization needed and that military personnel had to go to the commander of the task force to get approval for "stepped up methods". However, [redacted] stated he was unsure at what point the military personnel needed higher levels of authorization. [redacted] stated that he was under the impression that if they took it past direct questioning or involved discomfort, they needed to get approval.	Interview 1 @ 00:40:48 - 00:42:01
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to #29 of the questionnaire, that he understood from the task force and the (b)(1) [redacted] in Mosul, that there was a very specific regimen for using sleep deprivation on detainees, which he believes may allow four hours of uninterrupted sleep per twenty four hour period. [redacted] stated he had the sense that sleep deprivation was not commonly utilized because they lacked the manpower to implement it.	Interview 1 @ 00:38:17 - 00:40:48
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to question #30 of the questionnaire, that he never observed a detainee being beaten.	Interview 1 @ 00:42:05 - 00:42:09
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to #45 of the questionnaire, that during his first trip to Iraq with the task force, he observed a detainee who had been kept in a dark cell for what seemed to be weeks. (This is the same detainee [redacted] reported earlier in this interview who was walking in circles). [redacted] states this detainee was kept in a cell that was blacked out, but [redacted] could not tell how dark the cell actually was. [redacted] stated he had viewed this detainee inside the darkened cell via closed circuit television. [redacted] also told us that while he was in Afghanistan, he saw another detainee on the floor in a cell with a strobe light on via closed circuit television (CCTV), but he does not know how long this lasted. [redacted] told us he had heard of activities by [redacted]	Interview 1 @ 00:55:37 - 01:02:06

[redacted] further explained to us that it was difficult to differentiate between Federal Bureau of Investigation, [redacted] Defense Intelligence Agency, etc. because everyone looks similar. [redacted] states that no one likes how the [redacted] works because they do not share information and described a situation that had occurred in Iraq that he had heard about [redacted]
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to #46 of the questionnaire, isolation of a detainee for an extended period, that the only instance he had witnessed was discussed previously in his response to #45 of the questionnaire. [redacted] added that this detainee could not see others while in his cell but he does not think the cell was soundproofed.	Interview 1 @ 01:02:06 - 01:03:52
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated that while he was in Iraq, he observed a detainee who had to have duct tape perled off his face by a member of the military. [redacted] adds that the detainee was brought in from the target with the duct tape on his face. [redacted] tells us that the duct tape was not wrapped around the detainee's head. [redacted] recalled that he conducted biometrics on this detainee.	Interview 1 @01:03:55 - 01:06:38
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to question #32 of the questionnaire, he did not observe anyone use their hands, rope or anything else to choke or strangle a detainee.	Interview 1 @00:45:55 - 00:46:00
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to #51 and #52 of the questionnaire, that he never observed anyone using or threatening to use spiders, scorpions, snakes or other animals.	Interview 1 @ 01:07:03 - 01:07:09

To Be Determined	[redacted] stated he is unaware of anyone threatening other action to cause physical pain, injury, disfigurement or death.	Interview 1 @ 00:46:01 - 00:46:13
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to # 57 of the questionnaire, holding detainees who are not officially acknowledged or registered as such by the agency detaining the person, otherwise known as "ghost detainees"; that he does not believe that detainees with the task force were acknowledged to the red cross, but under military policy, there is a period of time where they are allowed to do that, possibly up to 72 hours. If during that period they did not develop any information indicating the detainee was suspicious or dangerous, they would let them go. [redacted] adds that the task force was very good at not gratuitously passing people into the system because once someone goes in up the chain to Abu Ghraib Prison and (b)(1) they become lost and it is very hard to get them out. Overall [redacted] did not think this really applied to the task force because it was a short term screening facility.	Interview 1 @ 01:07:37 - 01:11:49
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to question #61 of the questionnaire, that he never observed other treatment or action causing severe emotional or psychological trauma to a detainee.	Interview 1 @ 01:18:53 - 01:19:17

To Be Determined	[redacted] stated that detainees in Iraq and/or Afghanistan complained to him about the way about the way they were treated by U.S. personnel. [redacted] explained that detainees use this fact as a gambit to try to waste your time. This was the case particularly during the second Iraq trip because it was a very intensive interviewing trip where they were conducting 2 - 3 interviews per day at Abu Ghraib Prison and then writing up the interviews up at night. [redacted] gave examples of the types of complaints he heard from detainees, including complaints about food or a detainee's mattress. However [redacted] stated he did not hear any significant complaints of physical abuse, such as beatings.	Interview 1 @ 01:32:41 - 01:34:22

To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to question #37 of the questionnaire, he did not observe shackles or other restraints on a detainee for a prolonged period of time. To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to #42 of the questionnaire, that he never observed hooding or blindfolding of a detainee other than for transportation.	Interview 1 @ 00:47:58 - 00:48:19
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to # 43, exposing a detainee to extremely cold or hot room temperatures for extended periods, that the detainee he mentioned earlier who had been in the air conditioned room and doused with water would fit under that criteria and would have been uncomfortable. However, [redacted] did not know if this would be considered "extremely cold", and added that the room was 55 or 60 degrees and the detainee was shivering but that this didn't go on for very long.	Interview 1 @ 00:48:20 - 00:48:58
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to #48 of the questionnaire, he never observed rapid response teams used in forced cell extractions.	Interview 1 @

To Be Determined	[redacted] stated he is unaware of any staged or sham interviews or investigations conducted for members of the U.S. Congress or their staff. [redacted] adds that he did not see any dignitaries during his deployments.	Interview 1 @ 01:20:08 - 01:20:22
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated in response to #70 and #71 of the questionnaire, that he did not report any concerns to an Federal Bureau of Investigation supervisor of detainee treatment by any U.S. personnel. To Be Determined	[redacted] stated that neither the Federal Bureau of Investigation nor the military explained to him how far the military could go in their treatment of detainees. [redacted] told us he was clear about the rules and that the rules of engagement are the same in Iraq. [redacted] does not recall if Edward H. Lueckenhoff covered this issue during an in briefing. [redacted] adds he was there during the first half of Edward H. Lueckenhoff's tour.	Interview 1 @ 01:27:50 - 01:29:19
To Be Determined	[redacted] stated he had to read and sign a military interrogation practices document outlining practices for Afghanistan in the Bagram Holding Facility (Bagram Confinement Facility??). These interviews were conducted with Military Intelligence in the room and an Military Police watched as well. During his first deployment to Iraq, sometimes members of the military would sit to observe the interviews between the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the detainee, but not always.
