[Redacted] I believe the key issue is participation by FBI Agents in interrogation techniques which are not ordinarily lawful for law-enforcement use. I am not particularly concerned about FBI Agents witnessing these techniques, or their exposure or proximity to them, as the techniques are apparently lawful for the military to use against military detainees. So, there is no written authority by DOJ or FBIHQ allowing us to participate or witness extraordinary interrogation techniques, and we SHOULD NOT be exposed to such conduct.... This is an issue that the CDC must bring forward to the SAC, because we are being exposed, whether intentionally by the military or accidentally through proximity. I know from first hand experience that this is the case. Perhaps written guidelines from General Counsel through our SAC clearly explaining our dilemma to the military at GITMO will alleviate this potentially harmful exposure. This is a continuing problem [Redacted]
