My issue is that even if that story were correct we are putting these agents in very untenable positions: beating individuals before you arrest is unacceptable, but our agents are very much dependent on the SF they are with for their own personal safety. Those dynamics make me uncomfortable.

	All agents in Afghanistan who participate in SSE	es are required to complete an after action report (AAR) upon return. Within this AAR, they information or items recovered, and any pertine	nt or noteworthy activity. I think two b6
	SSEs while I was there and he was out on a thir	d and had not returned when I left. On one of b7 rovide answers to a set of questions that I believe are related to the incident in question but	rt I'm not sure without knowing additional	• details. So, in addition to the AAR, there may a	Iso be a second document describing his actions and what he saw.
